	QUESTIONS	ANSWERS
1.	Please confirm whether the USB stick referred to in clause 10.4 should contain a full scanned copy of the tender or only the supporting documents and confirm that the paper original prevails in case of discrepancy.	Yes, the USB stick referred to in Clause 10.4 should contain a scanned copy of the complete tender submission, including all documents submitted in hard copy. Tenderers are advised to ensure that the electronic version accurately reflects the paper submission in its entirety. The paper original prevails in case of discrepancy.
2.	Clause 4 requires references demonstrating experience gained within the past five (5) years. Please confirm whether projects that are still ongoing, where the relevant design or supervision services have been performed within this period, are acceptable, or whether only completed projects will be considered. If ongoing projects are acceptable, please confirm what supporting evidence is required (e.g. signed contract or client letter confirming the services performed to date).	Only completed projects shall be considered as valid references. Tenderers should therefore provide references relating exclusively to projects that have been successfully completed.
3.	Please confirm whether appendices to the Technical Offer count toward the 20-page limit	Only the cover page and the table of contents shall be excluded from the 20-page limit. All other pages forming part of the technical proposal shall be counted towards the maximum limit of 20 pages.
4.	Kindly clarify whether a sub-consultant is permitted to participate in more than one bid for the same tender, working with different lead consultants, or whether participation is restricted to a single bid only.	A sub-consultant may participate in more than one tender with different lead consultants, provided that: - the sub-consultant participates solely as a subcontractor and not as a member of a joint venture, consortium or formal association; - the sub-consultant provides a separate commitment confirming that the required resources will be available to each tenderer relying on its capacity; and - its participation in multiple tenders does not create a conflict of interest or affect its ability to perform the services if more than one relevant tenderer is appointed under the framework agreement. - each tender is prepared independently, without any exchange of confidential or commercially sensitive information between tenderers; A firm participating as a member of a joint venture, consortium or formal association is considered part of the tenderer and may therefore participate in only one tender.
5.	Clause 13.9 of the tender specifications requires tenderers to complete the section "Global indication for all selection criteria" in Part IV of the European Single Procurement Document (ESPD). However, the ESPD form attached to the tender documents contains no question or field under Part IV (Selection criteria).	The revised ESPD form has been issued through Addendum No. 3. This version supersedes and replaces the previously issued ESPD form and shall be used for the preparation and submission of tenders.
6.	Chapter 6, clause 2 (Minimum turnover) requires the tenderer to submit financial statements for 2023, 2024 and 2025. Where the tender is submitted by a joint venture, please confirm which members are required to submit these financial statements:	For a joint venture, each member is not automatically required to submit financial statements for the purpose of meeting the minimum turnover requirement. If the leading firm meets the turnover requirement, the lead firm will submit its financial statements if not and if there is a joint venture formed then, the joint venture may rely on the financial capacity

	(a) every member of the joint venture? (b) the lead firm only? or (c) only the member(s) whose turnover is relied upon to meet the minimum average annual turnover of EUR 90,000.	of its members to meet the minimum average annual turnover of EUR 90,000. Therefore, the financial statements should be submitted by the member(s) whose turnover is relied upon to meet this requirement. The evidence of that commitment must be submitted as required by Clause (h) of chapter 7. Additionally, all the consortium members must nevertheless submit the administrative and exclusion documents required by the Tender Specifications, and the tender must include the signed joint venture or association agreement identifying the lead firm and the role of each member.
7.	We understand that the Framework Agreement will operate on an as-needed basis and that specific projects have not yet been identified. Could the Contracting Authority provide an indicative description of the types of infrastructure projects expected under the Framework Agreement, such as educational facilities, institutional buildings, rehabilitation works, renewable energy installations or other infrastructure?	The framework may cover educational and institutional buildings, dormitories, WASH facilities, rehabilitation works, renewable energy installations and other infrastructure within Enabel's portfolio.
8.	Although individual projects have not yet been identified, could the Contracting Authority indicate whether the Framework Agreement is generally expected to cover small, medium- or large-scale construction projects, or provide an indicative range of construction values based on similar previous assignments?	Assignments are expected to vary in size and complexity. Specific construction values cannot be guaranteed and will be defined for each Service Order.
9.	Could the Contracting Authority clarify whether individual Service Orders may be issued exclusively for specific disciplines or stages, such as structural design, MEP design, quantity surveying or construction supervision, or whether each assignment is expected to involve the full multidisciplinary consultancy team?	Yes. Service Orders may cover individual disciplines or project phases. Only the expertise required for the specific assignment shall be mobilized.
10.	Could the Contracting Authority clarify whether topographical surveys, geotechnical investigations, environmental assessments and other specialist studies will be undertaken under separate contracts or whether the appointed consultant may be required to arrange and execute these services under the applicable Service Order?	These may be included in a Service Order where required, subject to an agreed scope, personnel inputs and applicable contractual pricing provisions.
11.	Could the Contracting Authority clarify how the rotation mechanism among the three appointed consultants will operate, particularly where the consultants have different technical specializations, geographical availability or ongoing assignments?	The rotation mechanism will operate in accordance with Clause 1.2 of Chapter 2 of the Tender Specifications. Service Orders will be offered successively to the appointed Service Providers according to their ranking: the first Service Order to the first-ranked Service Provider, the second to the second-ranked Service Provider, and the third to the third-ranked Service Provider, after which the sequence will be repeated.

		Each Service Order will specify the scope of work, geographical location, required personnel, implementation period and other relevant requirements. The appointed Service Provider must mobilize the expertise appropriate to the nature, scale and complexity of the assignment and commence the services within the specified timeframe. Where a Service Provider confirms that it is unavailable or unable to accept a particular Service Order or cannot mobilize and commence the services within the specified timeframe, the Contracting Authority may offer the Service Order to the next Service Provider in the rotation, in accordance with Clause 1.2. of Chapter 2. The Tender Specifications do not establish allocation rules for technical specialization, geographical availability or ongoing assignments. The rotation mechanism will therefore remain the governing principle, subject to the provisions on unavailability and mobilization as stated above.
12	Could the Contracting Authority clarify whether a consultant may be issued multiple Service Orders simultaneously and whether additional personnel may be proposed where necessary to undertake concurrent assignments?	Yes. Multiple Service Orders may be issued simultaneously, provided the Consultant demonstrates sufficient capacity and mobilizes approved personnel. Each Service Order will specify the scope of work, required personnel, implementation period and other relevant requirements. Each service order should be treated and delivered separately based on the specific scope and assignment of the Order. Additional personnel within the existing categories will be remunerated using the applicable framework rates and remain subject to prior approval. The issuance of multiple Service Orders shall not relieve the Consultant of its obligation to fulfil the requirements, deliverables and timelines specified in each Service Order.
13	Could the Contracting Authority indicate the anticipated mobilization notice period following issuance of a Service Order, particularly for assignments in remote locations or requiring full-time site personnel?	In accordance with Chapter 4, Section E, Clause 14, Subclause 14.3 of the Tender Specifications, the Consultant is required to mobilize the necessary on-site personnel within seven (7) calendar days following the issuance or notification of the relevant Service Order. This requirement applies irrespective of the assignment's geographical location or nature, including assignments in remote locations or those requiring full-time site personnel. The specific location of performance required personnel and implementation period will be indicated in the relevant Service Order. Consultants should therefore ensure that they have adequate resources and logistical arrangements to meet the prescribed mobilization deadline.
14	Where a Service Order is issued towards the end of the Framework Agreement, could the Contracting Authority clarify whether the	In accordance with Chapter 4, Section E, Clause 14, Subclause 14.2 of the Tender Specifications, any Service Order validly issued during the validity period of the Framework consultant will be permitted to complete the assignment beyond the expiry date of the Framework Agreement?	Agreement shall remain in force until completion, even where its execution extends beyond the expiry date of the Framework Agreement. Accordingly, a Consultant may complete an assignment beyond the expiry date, provided that the relevant Service Order was validly issued before the Framework Agreement expired. However, in accordance with Chapter 4, Section E, Clause 14, Subclause 14.1, no new assignment or Service Order may be issued after the expiry of the Framework Agreement.
