

Overcoming barriers to female participation in TVET & Work-based Learning in Palestine

Enabel encourages female participation in TVET & WBL

+11% more women are enrolled in Enabel's initiatives than the national average

Enabel wants to overcome social, economical and political barriers

1000 disadvantaged women were supported through scholarships and special funds (38% of all scholarship receivers)

 1/3 of the trainees is female

54% of the female trainees in Enabel's initiatives were from disadvantaged areas:

Enabel encourages gender-neutral and mixed gender vocations in TVET & WBL

1/2 courses is inclusive to women

Area A&B: 46%
Area C: 19%
Refugee camps: 7%
East-Jerusalem: 10%

Enabel encourages female directors, trainers, mentors and policy makers in TVET & WBL

30% of the capacity building participants on a national and institutional level were women

Gaza: 17%

About WBL • Enabel wants to counter youth unemployment in Palestine by helping graduates match their skills with the demand of the labor market, by integrating Work-Based Learning (WBL) in technical & vocational education and training (TVET). WBL improves practical skills and facilitates the transition from education to employment as part of the students' training takes place in the workplace.